Vessel Walk Through

First impressions of "Bel Ami" are those of an exceptionally well kept and capable vessel. She is so clean that my camera had trouble focusing on some of the Close-ups.

Stepping aboard her port side, very little heel was noticed. All canvas is fresh, new and clean with clear isinglass. Continuing forward one notices that the standing rigging is mounted on the inboard side of the sidedecks, affording an unobstructed walk to the bow. Running rigging is bright and new. She has a furling mainsail and roller furling jib, both in great condition. Standing rigging appears to be in excellent condition. Decks are very clean and are solid all around the vessel. The ground tackle consists of a

"Bruce" anchor with chain and nylon rode. An anchor handling electric winch is here underneath a lockable hatch.

All stanchions are stainless and firm with the bow pulpit being constructed of stainless steel, which is straight with no dings or bends noticed. "Bel Ami" has an excellent set of stainless davits (to handle the dinghy) and a barbecue.

"Bel Ami's" Cockpit is very roomy and well organized with plenty of stowage lockers and top notch navigational equipment. All running rigging is led here with locking cams and "Lewmar" winches being in excellent `condition`.

Stepping down into the Salon one is faced with a bright, clean and well laid out interior. There is ample light here and large hatches that will provide ample ventilation when not under the air `condition`er. The galley is immediately to port upon entering the cabin consisting of a double stainless sink, a very nice "Hillerange" two burner stove with oven, "Samsung" microwave and a large "in counter" refrigerator/freezer. Ample stowage is here for pots, pans and kitchen utensils.

The head is located to starboard and is very roomy. Here is an all fiberglass structure with sink, shower and a Manual pump "jabsco" toilet.

The Salon has newly covered "Ultra Leather" settee's to either side with a large dining table offset to starboard. There is plenty of stowage behind and inside these settee's.

The navigation station is on the aft end of the port settee, which is well equipped and convenient.

Forward is the bow cabin, which has room for two adults to sleep comfortably.

Aft and to starboard is a second cabin with a cedar lined hang-up closet and berth, which will sleep two comfortably oriented athwartships.

Overall, "Bel Ami" is in tip-top shape and is a pleasure to behold.

Please note, that the Dinghy and new Yamaha outboard are negotiable; however, not included with the vessel.
